PODCAST #487: "MANASSEH" BY ANNA GOLDEN

Bible

Read big. If you're up for it, read through all of Genesis to get the whole story leading up to Joseph's life. Focus your attention on the life of Joseph as described in Genesis 37-50. This is one of the longest narratives in Scripture.

Interact

Can you tell this story on your own without notes? Write a chronological timeline of Joseph's life. Use section headings to help you if necessary. Then, share the story with a friend to see where you might have forgotten details. Still struggling? Read the narrative again!

Tool

Let the experts help. Once you are familiar with the story, listen to The Bible Project's podcast on Joseph the Suffering Servant. In this episode, Jon and Tim make links to the beginning of Genesis and point out patterns I had never seen before.

Exercise

Dig even deeper by analyzing Joseph's experiences on a macro level, where you might discover shared experiences. For example, betrayal, false accusations, etc. How did God respond in Joseph's case? How might He respond in your situation?
